

WILLIMANTIC

The Vanguard of members of the Willimantic section of Company L, 104th Infantry, arrived in this city on Thursday morning on the 10:04 Boston express from Camp Devens where they had been through the dehousing process. They are home for a few days on furlough. While there was no official delegation to meet them, nevertheless a crowd of two hundred or more, composed of relatives and friends, were at the station to give them the hearty home welcome to which they were entitled and to which they had looked forward. There was much handshaking, and not a few tears of joy were shed by the women and girls in the crowd at the first glimpse of the men. From that time on, it was a reception all the way to the various homes of the soldiers in this city. Not all the members of Co. L from this vicinity who disembarked at Boston Monday were able to get here Thursday but their arrival may be looked for soon. From the expression on the faces of the returned soldiers, there was no doubt in any-

SAGE AND SULPHUR

DARKENS GRAY HAIR
Brush this through faded, streaked locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful

Almost everyone knows that Sage and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wednesday afternoon the students of the Academy of the Holy Family enjoyed a delightful surprise in the visit of the celebrated physician and lecturer, James J. Walsh, M. D., D. D., of New York.

When the distinguished visitor's presence at the academy was announced the students assembled in the school hall where they were delightedly entertained by the doctor with a half hour lecture on the treatment of cancer, and lectures on the various departments of the academy.

Dr. Walsh, promising to come soon again for a longer lecture, much to the satisfaction of the students and faculty.

There was an interesting debate on national prohibition in the Holy Family academy senior circle room Tuesday evening with the seniors vs. the juniors. Messrs. Helen, Rigney and Lucy acted as judges, assisted by Messrs. Alexina Caise and Abina Disco, who defended prohibition. Both sides showed clear knowledge of the subject and the seniors won a easy victory.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Harry Margoff was fined $25 and costs by Deputy Judge Tait in the borough court Wednesday for assault on Samuel Kuslansky. The trouble occurred last Friday evening while Mr. Kuslansky was having a drink at the yard of Michael Burke, who adjoins the Margoff property. Kuslansky testified that he asked Mr. Margoff for an ash tray and when he took the bottom out of a barrel filled with ash, Mr. Margoff was near by and thinking that Kuslansky had insulted his wife, he immediately jumped over the fence and beat Kuslansky over the head and body. The injured man had to be taken to the hospital, where he remained until Tuesday evening.

Michael Burke, Albert Lanigan, Maurice Murray and Michael Statack all testified that they saw Margoff strike and beat Kuslansky. Margoff admitted that he had assaulted the complainant. He said that when he heard what Kuslansky said to Mrs. Margoff he "lost his head." Kuslansky denied having insulted Mrs. Margoff and said that his only remark to her when she took the ash tray from the barrel was "too bad that a day did not have an ash tray." The words were spoken in the Jewish language and the other witnesses could not understand the words. Kuslansky had said to Mrs. Margoff, "The time and costs amounted to $25.45, which Margoff paid."
